Check back to this page on September 18th for the link to the call for papers!

About the Canadian Journal of Physiology and Pharmacology

- The Editor-in-Chief of the journal is Dr. Lorrie Kirshenbaum, University of Manitoba, Canada.
- Published since 1929, this monthly journal reports new research in the fields of physiology and pharmacology. Visit canscipub.com/cjpp to learn more.

Reasons to publish in CJPP:

- Your research gives back: Our publisher, Canadian Science Publishing, is a not-for-profit publisher that engages with the scientific community through society partnerships and various other initiatives.
- Your research will always be yours: Our authors retain copyright and there are no fees for you to reuse your published material.
- Your research, promoted and shared: We actively promote journal content through social media and news outlets, and track article engagement using Altmetrics.
- Your research, disseminated and discoverable: We are indexed in major databases such as Web of Science, Scopus, Google Scholar, and MEDLINE/PubMed.
- Your research, worldwide: Our journals are distributed in over 125 countries and include free or subsidized access for developing nations.
- Your research, funder compliant: We offer a range of options that comply with the open access policies of all major research funding agencies.
- Your research is secure: Our journal content is archived in both CLOCKSS and PORTICO to ensure its long-term preservation and availability.
- Your research, professionally presented: All journal content is copyedited, professionally typeset, and published on a highly functional website.

There are no submission fees or page charges for publishing in CJPP. Should you choose to publish open access, there could be a waiver or discount available to you. Refer to Canadian Science Publishing's Open Access Partnerships for more information.

Science is strongest when we work together. Whether it's your first paper, or your latest discovery, your research has a home here. Publish your next paper in the Canadian Journal of Physiology and Pharmacology.
